When it comes to parents involvement in children's lives the focus is often on getting them off to a positive start in the early years. But pre-teens and teens also need support in navigating adolescence, which brings many changes. Teens today are exposed to a variety of potentially harmful influences and behaviors. Join us and learn effective ways for handling:

- Friends and Peer Pressure
- Attitude and Mood Swings
- House Rules
- Homework and Grades
- Arguing and Back Talk
- Technology Use and More!

Let me help you learn how to stay connected with your teen as you guide him/her to become a responsible adult. Remember our goal is not to raise children but adults. Who are you raising? Come and see!
